

ALLSAINTS SPITALFIELDS Distribution Centre

Innovative approach to stockroom storage helps build on fashion retail success

Leeds-based Avanta UK has been awarded its second major contract, worth in excess of £500,000, by All Saints Retail, one of the UK's fastest growing fashion brands. Avanta UK designs and installs racking & shelving systems, partitioning and mezzanine floors as well as supplying a comprehensive range of ancillary products and services to the retail sector including top high street brands Next, USC, and Mamas & Papas.

The contract sees Avanta UK redesigning and relocating the 'shop development' operation which includes the installation of a new Fabrication room and Spray booth, along with all the necessary heating and extraction systems. Avanta is also increasing storage capacity within All Saints' distribution centre by extending the current racking layout and adding additional pallet storage, shelved picking locations for garments and bulk picking locations for footwear, as well as a unique high-density, mobile shelving system for the QC department.

Andrew Chipp, Sales Director at Avanta, said "We have been a supply partner to All Saints for the last two years both at their distribution centre and at store level installing our unique mobile garment storage system which increases storage density by on average 174% within retail stockrooms. "Avanta provide All Saints with a one-stop shop, full-project option. We always provide a high level of customer service and flexibility often going the extra mile to meet challenging deadlines and changing needs. This approach, combined with our competitive pricing, has resulted in another excellent contract win for Avanta."

All Saints said "Avanta UK have consistently delivered cost-effective storage solutions which have brought considerable cost benefits to All Saints."

Design Service

Main Benefits

Ideal for – those who need immediate cost-effective expansion solutions.

Utilising space that is otherwise wasted, a mezzanine floor can give you twice the flexibility without the need to move or extend. Architects, specifiers and blue-chip companies in a vast spectrum of industries choose Avanta mezzanine floors.

We have the expertise to provide the complete solution to your mezzanine floor requirements.

Construction

Generally constructed from structural steel and decked with either 38mm particle board including moisture resistant and fire retardant options, plywood steel plate or steel mesh flooring. Suspended ceiling and electrical/utility installation as required. Constructed in accordance with current British Standards.

Specifying & Planning

There are no standard specifications when specifying mezzanine floors. Our experts will listen to your requirements and design a mezzanine floor to suit your specific purpose, and comply with relevant British Standards and the legal requirements for Building Regulations.

Expertise

Our experts have extensive knowledge in all forms of structural floors. From taking the project on board, we carry out a full site survey, provide you with working CAD drawings, we can also handle all Building Regulations - a legal requirement for any mezzanine floor, and Planning Applications to Local Authorities.

With our extensive knowledge of structural floors and ancillary equipment, we can be certain to add benefit to your final working environment.

Complete Project Management

We assign a Contracts Manager to your project providing a central point of contact, who will ensure that your project is completed to your specification, on time and within budget.

Our expert project management enables you to optimise efficiency through:

- Construction
- Electrical/Utility Installations
- Fire precautions
- Installation
- Racking
- Shelving
- Partitioning
- Suspended Ceilings
- Lighting
- Flooring

A turn key project requires a vast mix of technical, logistical and financial expertise. Avanta has this experience, working on a variety of commercial and industrial applications.
