Mesh Partitions

Avanta Mesh Partitions provide a fully adaptable storage solution that fits all your storage requirements. Standard components and a wide range of standard panel dimensions help us to provide tailor-made storage solutions of the highest quality. The benefits of mesh partitioning are widespread including allowing natural light to filter through and facilitates sprinkler systems to aid in fire safety.

Avanta Security Mesh Cages are free-standing storage cages that are suitable for storing hazardous materials and protecting against theft or vandalism.

Mesh Cages come in 6 standard sizes and are constructed using UX 450 mesh panels. Panels can easily be modified on-site if your application should change.

Single Skin Steel Partitions

Avanta UK is one of the UK's leading companies offering the design, supply and installation of steel partitions; we cater for a range of businesses including warehouses, factories and offices.

Single skin steel partitioning systems are ideal for enclosing work areas within factories and warehouses. Panels incorporate various configurations of steel, mesh and glazing and can be multi-tiered to improve security and keep working areas dust-free. Panels can also be cut to accommodate an existing structure to provide an aesthetic finish.

Double Skin Steel Partitions

Double skin steel partitioning is a quality four-line system that is ideal for offices and workshops in factories, warehouses and other commercial/industrial environments. It is perfect for creating a functional yet stylish working space in an industrial application, such as a manufacturing plant, where sound reduction or fire-rating might be important. This system can also be multi-tiered to make use of any height available within your facility.
